

During the classes held on Monday 8/31 and Wednesday 9/2 we review the concept and origin of the word psychoanalysis, the study that is in charged of treat, analyze and investigate mental disorders, internal conflicts and life diverse interpretations. Another concept studied during the last two classes is Hysteria , viewed from Freud's concept who see it as a disease that occurs in womens since it is related with the womb and it is known for clinical pictures that symbolize a psychic conflict originated from a sexual encounter in childhood, predominance of identification and mechanism of repression. As a complement for the knowledge developed we can add the Lecture I also understand and explain during class, this lecture also emphasizes the division of the mind into the conscious and the unconscious mind.
